

IAN'S FIRST TINY STEPS

IT'S been a while since there's been some news from the STEPS camp.

Unfortunately, it's not a pop comeback this time.

Instead IAN WATKINS, better known as H, from the band has announced he's to be a dad, to twins.

The star uploaded a cartoon video, above, yesterday revealing he and partner Craig Ryder are to be parents in the New Year via a surrogate. The couple, who have been together for eight years, explain in the clip:

"Together we've been on lots of adventures . . . but our biggest adventure is about to begin.

"For a long time we have been wishing and our wish is about to come true. We are going to be dads!

"There's more . . . it's twins!"
